STATEMENT OF CPNI PROCEDURES AND COMPLIANCE

ACN Communication Services, Inc., ACN Communication Services Virginia, LLC, its Virginia operating subsidiary, ACN Digital Phone Service, LLC, and ACN Digital Phone Service Puerto Rico, LLC(collectively known as “The ACN Companies” or “Companies”) provide the following as its Statement of CPNI compliance.

ACN Communication Services, Inc. and ACN Communication Services Virginia, LLC provide wireline local and long distance telecommunication services to business and residential customers, primarily as a bundled service. ACN Digital Phone Service, LLC and ACN Digital Phone Service Puerto Rico, LLC, provide Voice over Internet Protocol (“VoIP”) services and customer premises equipment to business and residential customers. All of The ACN Companies have the same methods and procedures and operating policies with respect to CPNI and customer call detail records.

The ACN Companies do not use CPNI to market services to their customers. Therefore, the ACN Companies do not utilize the opt-in or opt-out approval processes.

The ACN Companies bill customers directly and have taken steps to secure CPNI and manage its release in accordance with FCC rules. The ACN Companies have instituted processes to safeguard customer CPNI and call detail information from improper use or disclosure by employees; and to discover and protect against attempts by third parties to gain unauthorized access to CPNI.

User account information can only be accessed by authorized representatives of the ACN Companies. Such authorized representatives have access to customer records management systems only via an established password protected account setup in their name by a system administrator. When the ACN Companies agents access customer information of any type, an audit log is created on the account that indicates the company agent that accessed the records. Additionally, access to CPNI used for the purpose of reporting and managing the business is centralized to the Company’s Reporting Group that has limited password access to customer information through the establishment of a Business Objects database that is populated only with specified customer information.

Call detail information is provided to customers over the telephone pursuant to the following procedures identified below. Customers define an account User Name and Password at the time the customer account is established. In addition, each Customer must select a secret question and answer upon establishment of an account. Should a customer forget or lose the password, such information can be provided to the customer at the email address established when the account was set up. If the customer cannot provide the correct password or response to any back-up authentication methods the Company requires a new password be established. If the customer cannot provide the password or backup authentication question response, and the customer question does not fall into the exception where the call detail information is provided by the customer to the Customer Service Representative, then call detail can only be provided by mail to the customer's address of record, or by calling the customer at the telephone number of record.

The ACN Companies maintains a record of all instances where CPNI was disclosed or provided to third parties, or where third parties were allowed access to CPNI.

The ACN Companies protect against the unauthorized disclosure of CPNI on the internet through the establishment of a customer username and password. In addition, each Customer must select a secret question and answer upon establishment of an account. Should a customer forget or lose the password, such information can be provided to the customer at the email address established when the account was set up. If the customer cannot provide the correct password or response to any back-up authentication methods the Company requires a new password be established. If the customer cannot provide the password or backup authentication question response then the customer can contact customer service. Upon the customer's contact with the ACN Companies' customer service department regarding a forgotten password or user name, the customer must provide their email address of record prior to the customer service representative emailing the customer their username and password.

The ACN Companies do not have retail locations and therefore does not disclose CPNI in-store.

The ACN Companies notify customers via a previously established email address or mails to the customer address of record, all notifications regarding account changes (without revealing the changed information or sending the notification to the new account information): password changes, change in a response to a back-up means of authentication, change to an on-line account, or change or creation of an address of record other than at service initiation.

The ACN Companies have not taken any actions against data brokers in the last year.

The ACN Companies have procedures in place to notify law enforcement (United States Secret Service and FBI) of a breach of a customer's CPNI within seven (7) business days, and to notify customers of the breach. The ACN Companies maintain a record of any breaches discovered and notifications made to the USSS and FBI. The customer's electronic record is updated with information regarding notifications on CPNI breaches.

The ACN Companies have not received any complaints about unauthorized release or disclosure of CPNI for the last calendar year.

The ACN Companies have not developed any information with respect to the processes that pretexters are using to attempt to access CPNI.
